

Strategic Thinking & Communication Partnership

For professionals seeking a private partnership focused on communication, strategic thinking, creative problem-solving, and personal or professional growth.

What This Is

This is not an English lesson.

While our conversations are conducted in English, the primary goal is to help you think more clearly, communicate more effectively, solve important problems, and move forward with confidence.

Many professionals have colleagues, managers, friends, and family members. Few have a trusted thinking partner who can help them examine challenges, uncover blind spots, generate new ideas, and make better decisions.

This partnership provides a dedicated space for reflection, growth, strategic thinking, and meaningful action.

All information shared by the client will remain confidential.

Who This Is For

Professionals, managers, entrepreneurs, leaders, and globally minded individuals seeking support beyond language learning. Curious and ambitious people who want to enhance their communication and thinking for better relationships and effectiveness professionally or personally.

What We Can Work On

- Leadership in communication
- If you feel stuck – getting unstuck
- Creative brainstorming and problem-solving
- Difficult conversations
- Career development and transitions
- Strategic thinking

- Cross-cultural communication
- Decision-making skills and clarity
- Motivation and accountability
- Confidence and executive presence
- Relationship dynamics
- Personal growth and self-awareness
- Creativity and innovation
- Life design and long-term vision

How It Works

- Three private 70-minute sessions per month (Motomachi or Zoom)
- Personalized agenda and development focus
- Ongoing emailing support between sessions (See details below)

Investment

¥90,000 / month

Includes:

- Three 70-minute private sessions per month
- Personalized agenda
- Feedback, questions, encouragement, support
- Accountability and strategic guidance
- Complete confidentiality
- Between-session email support

You can email David between sessions to share reflections, ask questions, or receive brief feedback on your communication or ideas. He normally responds within one working day, Monday through Friday. This support includes guidance and targeted feedback, but not extensive editing, rewriting, or document review. Work requiring deeper attention can become a focus of the next session.

Next Steps

Schedule a consultation (in Motomachi or Zoom) to discuss your goals, challenges, and whether this partnership would be a valuable investment for your personal or professional growth.

You can select any of the consultation buttons on the website to start the conversation with David.

About David Nagai

David Nagai is an American educator, coach, and facilitator who has spent more than 15 years teaching and coaching people from diverse cultural and professional backgrounds.

He has lived in six countries and specializes in communication, creativity, psychology, strategic thinking, and cross-cultural understanding.

David holds a Master's Degree in Community Development, where he was trained to help individuals and groups identify challenges, express questions and aspirations, and work collaboratively toward meaningful goals through creative and strategic problem-solving.

During five years in India, David worked with NGOs and social enterprises, facilitating education, brainstorming, strategic planning, and project development to help organizations strengthen their impact.

Through Bridge Beyond English, David has spent the past ten years helping Japanese professionals develop stronger communication skills, greater confidence, broader perspectives, and sharper creativity and problem-solving skills.

By facilitating discussions around psychology, business, leadership, culture, creativity, and communication, he helps professionals strengthen their thinking, ask better questions, solve problems creatively, and communicate with greater clarity, confidence and human connection.
